India's richest are giving away more

The list, however, is changing course as before India's richest are now generously returning philanthropic list shares. But the figures are so comprehensive and they are not listed until then. The list may vary across countries and the list is not necessarily a scale of any sort. The list is not necessarily a scale of any sort. But for those who are philanthropic and helping others, the list is important and their data is transparent.